

15c

A Week in Hope
Beginning August 25

Hope Star

WEATHER

Arkansas—Fair Wednesday night and Thursday.

VOLUME 36—NUMBER 267

(AP)—Means Associated Press.
(NA)—Means Newspaper Enterprise Ass'n

HOPE, ARKANSAS, WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 21, 1935

Star of Hope 1890: Press, 1927;
consolidated January 18, 1929.

PRICE 5c COPY

U. S. VOTES ARMS EMBARGO

Here and There

Editorial By ALEX. H. WASHBURN

THE CITY OF HOPE is considering purchase of the Elks club property. The city would buy the building in order to stop rent payments which it must meet in order to retain the federal WPA district office; and it would buy the ground in order to allow for future expansion of the municipal water and light plant, which adjoins it.

Financial Trouble Paralyzes Seven Counties in State

Road Work Suspended in Faulkner—May Lose County Agents

COURTS CUT DOWN

Searcy Session Ends After 2 Days—Carroll Omits Summoning Juries

LITTLE ROCK—(AP)—Development in the financial troubles of various counties in Arkansas as reported were as follows:

Faulkner county—County Judge Hutson announced that the county road work must be suspended for 30 or 60 days because of the lack of funds. He said that payment of county agent's salaries for the remainder of the year is uncertain.

Searcy county—Circuit court at Marshall adjourned after a two-day session because of the lack of funds. Members of the grand jury served without pay under an agreement that they will receive one-fourth of the pay to which they are entitled if the county ever gets any money.

Van Buren county—Although circuit court is scheduled to convene at Searcy September 2, Prosecuting Attorney Robert Gaston said that the county's depleted financial condition made it unlikely that a full term would be held.

Carroll county—One of the briefest sessions in the history of the eastern district of Carroll county was held at Berryville. To save expense Judge J. S. Combs of Rogers, did not summon the juries.

Pope county—Because of the county's depleted finances, made an arrangement with R. A. Cook, Pulaski county judge, by which prisoners convicted of misdemeanors here will work out their fines on the Pulaski county farm. Three prisoners were sent to Pulaski county under the new arrangement.

Craighead county—Hearing on a petition for a permanent injunction to restrain County Judge Spurgeon Clark from allowing contractual claims will be held before Chancellor J. F. Gautney in Jonesboro today.

Dallas county—County Judge Len Bradley postponed the case in which certain county officials are attacking the county's recently adopted salary act. Judge Bradley disqualified himself because his salary will be affected by the suit although he is not one of the officials attacking the salary act.

Roundup Begun on Driver's License

Revenue Agents to Check Cars All Over State for Personal Licenses

LITTLE ROCK—(AP)—Revenue Commissioner Wiseman announced Wednesday the opening of a drive against motorists who have failed to obtain state driver's license.

"An instructing revenue department agents throughout the state to start making a check of all cars to see if their owners have driver's licenses," the commissioner said.

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS:

When you just get in with the dew, you're apt to get your just dues.

City "Cracks Down" on Electric Bills

60 Meters Pulled to Force Payment of Old Accounts

Council Votes Elks Hall Purchase—Up to Board of Public Affairs

PRICE TO BE $5,500

Petition Presented for Purchase of Band Boys' Uniforms at $825

The City of Hope has "cracked down" on delinquent electric accounts pulling 60 meters in the past few days, Alderman L. Carter Johnson revealed Tuesday in the report of the water and light committee to the city council meeting.

All but five meters were subsequently restored, he added, on payment of the July electric account and a substantial payment on past balances.

Action on the water and light committee backed up public notices that utility bills due the municipal plant must be paid or services would be shut off.

A motion by Alderman Taylor was carried that an ordinance authorizing the purchase of Elks Hall at an estimated sum of $5,500, be drawn.

Would Buy Elks Hall
Approval of Alderman Taylor's motion by the council followed a verbal report by Mayor Albert Graves who spoke in behalf of the Board of Public Affairs.

Mayor Graves said the board did not recommend the purchase of the Elks Hall, but did not oppose it. He intimated acquiring of the Elks property might be all right if the drain on the city treasury in paying for the property were not too heavy.

Actual purchase of the property, it is understood, is now largely in the hands of the Board of Public Affairs which must make all purchases amounting to more than $500. In the event the board approved the proposal it would go back to the council for a final decision.

The city at present is paying $500 a year rental on the Elks building as a district office for the PWA.

J. K. Sale, representing the mothers of the band boys, presented a petition of nearly 400 signatures of Hope citizens asking purchase of 33 new uniforms for the Hope Boys Band. Estimated cost was given at $825.

A motion by Alderman Hamilton was passed instructing Mayor Graves to communicate with other towns the size of Hope to ascertain the method in financing purchase of new uniforms.

This matter also was referred to the Board of Public Affairs for consideration.

May Buy New Grader
Purchase of a new street grader at an estimated cost of $800 was also brought before the council. Marion Monroe, street commissioner, explained that the present grader was inadequate.

Solman Rushing, salesman for a machinery company, told the council that a new grader could be purchased for $837.50 with an allowance of $40 for the city's present grader. On a motion by Alderman Henry the matter was referred to the Board of Public Affairs for consideration.

Concluding the meeting the council passed a motion by Alderman Henry restoring the salary of the members of the Board of Public Affairs to $10 per month. The new salary schedule is effective as of August 1.

Since shortly after April the board members had been drawing $5 per month.

Urges Teachers' Union
PARIS, Ark.—(AP)—In contrast to Monday's turbulent meeting, Tuesday's session of the annual Arkansas Federation of Labor convention was a quiet gathering. Committees spent the day in preparing reports and recommendations to be submitted Wednesday.

The principal address was delivered by Dr. Willard E. Upham of New Haven, Conn., executive secretary of the National Labor and Religious Foundation.

Teachers and low salaries were defended by Dr. Upham.

"There is no group so coward and repressed as the teachers of America," he said. He advocated the organization of teachers.

M. C. Kreuger of Chicago, vice president of the American Federation of Teachers, called attention to the large growth of his organization.

The delegates prepared for the election of officers Wednesday. The election is considered another test for the present administration which is controlled by the so-called conservatives.

The conservatives will be opposed by the "Left Wing" led by the Rev. Claude C. Williams and J. Austin Beasley.

Beasley will oppose H. M. Thackeray, incumbent, for secretary of the federation.

Bulletins

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The senate lobby committee revealed Wednesday it had been denied the records of the Cities Service company. If necessary, the committee warned, all the files of the company and its subsidiaries would be subpoenaed.

LITTLE ROCK—(AP)—J. Rosser Venable, attorney, the only announced candidate thus far for the United States seat now held by Joe T. Robinson, proposed Wednesday to bring Robinson, Huey Long and himself together on the same platform next month for an Arkansas speaking tour. He referred to the two as "the Siamese twins of the power trust."

Boy Scout Saves a Drowning Lad

Dick Locke Revives Gilbert O'Dell, 15, After Going Down in Pines

Near tragedy was averted Tuesday afternoon at The Pines swimming pool—thanks to the heroic efforts of First Class Scout Dick Locke, who was credited with saving the life of Gilbert O'Dell, 15-year-old Hope boy.

Locke rescued O'Dell from the bottom of the pool after he had been under water nearly three minutes, and applied artificial respiration.

Locke, 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Locke, 314 South Shover street, used methods he learned in scouting for the rescue.

O'Dell was found in nine feet of water on the first attempt by Locke, but was unable to lift him. Locke went down again and brought the sunken swimmer to the top.

Using the "cross-chest carry" learned in scouting, Locke swam to the shore with O'Dell, who was unconscious. At the edge of the pool O'Dell was bent over the side of the concrete surface where artificial respiration was applied.

Within five minutes the youth was revived—much to the pleasure of O'Dell's horrified mother and more than a dozen spectators.

Dr. L. M. Lile, who arrived on the scene a little later, relieved young Locke. O'Dell was placed in a Hope Furniture company ambulance and taken to his home near the Hope brick yard.

O'Dell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John O'Dell.

Dr. Lile highly praised young Locke and gave him credit for saving the life of O'Dell.

Last Landing for Wiley Post, Flier

Funeral Plane Puts Down at Oklahoma City Before a Silent Crowd

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla.—(AP)—A funeral transport plane settled to earth before a solemn throng at the Municipal Airport late Tuesday for Wiley Post's last landing.

The body of the intrepid aviator arrived here at 3:54 p. m., ending an arduous journey of 4,300 miles to the bleak scene of the accident near Point Barrow, Alaska, in which he and Will Rogers were killed.

The plane taxied down the main

(Continued on page three)

THE NEW DEAL IN WASHINGTON

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

WASHINGTON.—The romance of the sea, the honor of the navy, and the officer-and-gentleman tradition of the army have all suffered through contacts with the Washington lobby.

The army and navy are two of the biggest governmental contractors in the world and the various American merchant marine policies have kept a standing corps of lawyers and lobbyists for ship operating and building companies in the job.

In the name of the merchant marine and the American flag upon the seas, lobbyists have been collecting fat fees ever since the war as they got ships from the government and wrangled juicy contracts, subsidies and legislation which meant huge profits for certain individuals. Now they're musing against proposals to clean up the mess and prevent further scandals by creating a government owned, government-operated merchant marine.

"Big Three" Alive
Shipbuilding lobbyists, allied with agents for naval suppliers and subcontractors in a combination representing several billion dollars and against disarmament efforts, against limitation of profits on warships or construction in navy yards, and for virtual monopoly of naval building among the Big Three—the Bethlehem, New York, and Newport News shipbuilding companies.

President Newell of Bath Iron Works was shown to have circulated a doubtful newspaper story in which Japan was charged with preparing for war against us—just as a big naval appropriation was being proposed. Shipbuilders lobbied mightily to thwart Hoover's peace gesture in stopping construction of six cruisers. They joined hands with navy lobbyists in getting $238,000,000 of PWA funds for naval construction.

One of the most celebrated ship lobbyists here is Jim Barnes, an elderly but vigorous man-about-town who

(Continued on page four)

Will Rogers, Aviation's No. 1 Booster, Flew 150,000 Miles

He Went to Death Violating the Rule He Gave to Others

"Ride the Commercial Airways—Beware of Barnstorming Flights"

ONE OTHER MISHAP

Crashed Going to Republican Convention—"It Served Me Right"

This is the third of four stories revealing the homely sides of Will Rogers which gave him his unique position as First Jester to the American people.

RY WILLIS THORNTON
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

It was "Casey" Jones, himself, the granddaddy of American flyers, who called Will Rogers "Aviation's Patron Saint."

Certainly it was a strange thing that this cowboy, brought up to the rope and saddle and the feel of horse-flesh between his knees, should have become America's No. 1 air travel booster all in one.

Aviation generally recognized that, and the fact that Will never lost an opportunity to "plug" air travel in his writings, his stage work, even in his conversation.

He had an almost pathetic trust in pilots and Lindbergh was his hero of heroes.

"You know I am at heart a coward. I am scared of everything, but I just got so much trust in these pilots that I just crawl up into their arms like a baby crawling up into its mother's arms."

Why, those fellows are the most careful in the world. . . I always figured their lives are worth more than mine. I've lived mine and had my fling."

Will Rogers wrote that seven years ago in a magazine article.

Began in Cockpit Days
He was no coward at heart. With customary self-deprecation he wrote that to reassure others in days when air travel was not so well organized as it is today. But you can see him climbing into Wiley Post's plane at Point Barrow "like a baby crawling up into his mother's arms"—that was the kind of faith he had in this fellow Oklahoman.

Rogers was a flying enthusiast long before commercial flying had been "shaken down" into the systematic affair it is today. As long ago as in 1920 he went up in a studio plane in California with a former army ace.

The pilot, G. B. Manly, did some fancy rolls and turns, but reported later that Rogers just looked over the edge of the earthen cockpit and chewed his gum a little faster. When the plane came down Will shifted his gum to the other side of his mouth and remarked dryly:

"Try anything once. Some try things often. Wiley, you ain't going."

Violated Own Principle
From that time on Will was a confirmed air passenger. He never tried to learn to fly himself, nor did he acquire any great knowledge of the technical side of aviation.

His death resulted from violating his own principle: that he preached over and over—ride the regular commercial airlines, but go slow about casual flights where equipment and facilities might be what they might be. But Wiley Post was his friend, a fellow Oklahoman, one of the world's greatest pilots—how could anything go wrong?

Will Rogers flew not only all the airways of this country, but those of Europe. The Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce estimates that since 1925 had flown more than 150,000 miles on regularly scheduled air lines.

And he began in the days when casual accommodations in the open cockpit mail planes was often the best available. In touring Europe by air he made at least one flight in Russia in the single-engine ship under bad weather conditions which was extremely dangerous. And he knew it.

He was no coward at heart.

Spurred Aviation Progress
The European air tour showed him how far Europe was ahead of the United States in airport development. He returned and launched a one-man campaign for more and better airports. It bore fruit.

Once when he and a pilot "over-shot" a town which could not be recognized, Will offered to buy the town.

(Continued on page two)

Blow, Whistle, Blow---for Will

Though Will Rogers is dead, his millions of friends and admirers will see him again in two moving pictures which he had completed before his fatal Alaskan trip. The above photo is taken from "Steamboat 'Round the Bend." The other is, "In Old Kentucky."

Congress Moves Step Nearer End

TVA Compromise Accepted—Cotton Loan Announcement Soon

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—Sweeping another barrier from the road to adjournment the house accepted Wednesday the conference committee report comprising differences with the senate over the bill to broaden powers of the Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA).

Prompt senate action is expected to send the bill to the White House.

Cotton Loan Plan
WASHINGTON.—(AP)—President Roosevelt expressed hope Wednesday that he could soon announce cotton loan figures on the 1935 crop.

He expected to sign the amendments strengthening the AAA late in the day, or Thursday after study has been completed by experts.

Roosevelt also is planning to name the board of three to select the new National Labor Board soon thereafter.

Filibuster Averted
WASHINGTON.—(AP)—An agreement on the Roosevelt tax bill Tuesday lent a powerful impetus to the congressional drive toward adjournment.

The sudden obstacle of a senate filibuster, raised by Senator Nye, Republican, North Dakota, to force consideration of neutrality legislation apparently was removed by the quick assurance of Democratic leaders that a neutrality resolution would be brought up on the floor Wednesday.

Just before the problem was raised and met, the new tax bill was put in final shape for senate-house conference committees.

In all major particulars except one the president's tax ideas prevailed. But on that one—the new inheritance tax which was a basic recommendation—the 10 men representing the senate and house decided against him.

Three of them, all Republicans, issued a statement labeling the measure

(Continued on page three)

7-Point Resolution on Neutrality Is Passed by Senate

House Action Also Expected—Roosevelt Reported Favorable to It

AUSTRIA AND ITALY

Official Vienna Paper Supports Mussolini in Ethiopian Crisis

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—A seven-point resolution designated to safeguard American neutrality in the event of a foreign war was adopted Wednesday by the senate.

Attempts are already under way to assure house action.

President Roosevelt is reported to favor the move. One provision provides for a mandatory embargo on exports of arms, munitions and implements of war to all belligerents in a foreign conflict.

U. S. Studies Crisis

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—Europe's crisis played a leading part in Capitol Hill Wednesday as Democratic leaders strove to avert a fight over American neutrality legislation—a dispute which might halt congress in its breathless rush toward adjournment.

Filibustering tactics by a senate group led by Senators Nye and Bone forced leaders to agree to bring up for consideration Wednesday a resolution aimed to keep the United States neutral should the Italo-Ethiopian trouble develop into a serious war.

Copyright Associated Press

LONDON, Eng.—(AP)—Premier Stanley Baldwin called a special informal cabinet meeting Wednesday immediately upon his arrival from vacation.

There were indications that Britain might seek American co-operation outside of the Geneva League of Nations circles for a solution of the Italo-Ethiopian crisis.

Ethiopian War Chest

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia.—(AP)—Reliable sources said Wednesday that Emperor Selassie has a large secret fund of gold and silver to pour out in fighting Italy, in the event of hostilities.

Austria Bucks Italy

VIENNA, Austria.—(AP)—The Wiener Zeitung, official government mouthpiece, banner-lined an editorial Wednesday which places Austria unequivocally on the Italian side of the East African dispute.

Captioned, "Europe or Ethiopia?" the editorial praised Mussolini's honesty and frankness, warning that he "is not a hypocrite, and openly admits his hunger-hunger for land, new resources and wealth."

May Boycott

LONDON, Eng.—(AP)—Great Britain's foreign experts have agreed to recommend to the cabinet Thursday adoption of proposals for economic sanction by members of the League of Nations against Italy if she fights Ethiopia.

This decision, it was said, was made by Sir Samuel Hoare, foreign secretary, and Anthony Eden, minister for League of Nations affairs.

Joint economic and financial sanction would prevent goods, cash and credit from reaching Italy.

Smaller powers and France, it was said, would support the British government should it urge Geneva to adopt this course.

If the League fails to act, Britain must determine upon its own unilateral steps in the face of what it regards as an Italian challenge of England's prestige and domination of the Mediterranean and Africa.

Ministers, recalled from their vacations, will meet to decide upon a course of action following the breakdown of the tri-power talks in Paris.

British Facing Crisis
If League powers do not agree to follow the program mapped out by Great Britain, then the whole crisis will be dumped back into London's lap.

Considerable emphasis was placed upon the visit to Hoare and Eden this afternoon of Ray Atherton, American charge d'affaires in London; Neville

(Continued on page three)

Markets

NEW YORK.—(AP)—Cotton futures responded steady, three to six highers on trade buying of new months and covering, October 11.35, December 11.18, January, 11.15, March, 11.11, May 11.10 and July 10.55.

LIVERPOOL.—(AP)—Cotton futures, American nil. Spot moderate business done, prices two points lower; quotations in pence: American strict middling 7.08, good middling, 6.78, strict middling, 6.63, middling, 5.58, strict low middling, 6.48, strict good ordinary 6.03, good ordinary 5.73.

Tacky Party Friday at Fair Playground

Mrs. Foy Hammons, supervisor of Wednesday that a "tacky party" will be held for children at the park Friday afternoon.

Prizes and refreshments will be given to the children who were asked by Mrs. Hammons to bring cookies.

Hope Star

O Justice, Deliver Thy Herald From False Report!

Published every week-day afternoon by Star Publishing Co., Inc., 212-214 South Walnut street, Hope, Arkansas.

C. E. PALMER, President
ALEX. H. WASHBURN, Editor and Publisher

Entered as second-class matter at the postoffice at Hope, Arkansas Under the Act of March 3, 1897.

Definition: "The newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, through widely circulated advertisements, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."—Col. R. K. McCormick.

Subscription Rate (Always Payable in Advance): By city carrier, per week 10c; six months $2.75; one year $5.00. By mail, in Hempstead, Nevada, Howard, Miller and Lafayette counties, $3.50 per year; elsewhere $5.00. Plus 2% Arkansas Sales Tax.

Member of The Associated Press: The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to the use for publication of all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in this paper and also the local news published herein.

National Advertising Representatives: Arkansas Dailies, Inc., Memphis, Tenn., Sterick Bldg.; New York City, 389 Lexington; Chicago, Ill., 75 E. Wacker, Drive; Detroit, Mich., 338 Woodward Ave.; St. Louis, Mo., Star Bldg.

Charges on Tributes, Etc.: Charges will be made for all tributes, cards of thanks, resolutions, or memorials, concerning the departed. Commercial newspapers hold to this policy in the news columns to protect their readers from a deluge of space-taking memorials. The Star disclaims responsibility for the safe-keeping or return of any unsolicited manuscripts.

YOUR HEALTH

Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

No Thorough Cure for Skin Eruptions.

As much has been done about pimples and blackheads, it has been pointed out that a completely satisfactory treatment has not yet been developed. True, the use of X-Rays has helped in controlling many cases which previously could not be corrected. But there still are cases which fail to respond to any of the methods now used. One reason is that we are not yet certain just what is the cause of acne, as this skin trouble is called.

The pimple begins as a blackhead. It is the general opinion that the blackhead begins by some sort of mechanical blocking of a tiny duct or hole from which a secretion ordinarily would come for purposes of oiling the skin and keeping it moist.

Sometimes due to external irritation, such as comes from oil, wax or paraffin, the pimples form promptly without blackheads. As soon as the blackhead forms, however, there is needed only a small amount of irritation and infection for the pimple to follow.

Because some people develop pimples and others do not, various suggestions have been made as to the cause. Some investigators are convinced that the glands by their activity make the difference; others are certain that food is primarily responsible, and particularly overindulgence in sugar.

Among recent methods of treatment for acne are ultraviolet rays, vitamins and vaccines. A few doctors have found the ultraviolet rays useful, but the majority of opinion indicates that its usefulness is very limited.

Other observers have reported that fairly large doses of vitamin D were helpful in acne, but attempts to confirm these opinions have failed.

A great many physicians have used vaccines made from germs associated with acne, but the majority of evidence fails to support any real usefulness in this method in most cases.

The X-ray seems to be a really dependable agent and is apparently able to secure a good result in as many as 80 per cent of cases treated over a period of from three to four months. The X-ray, however, is powerful and should not be used by any except experienced physicians.

Everyone now recognizes that anemia, constipation or other intestinal disturbances should be properly treated as one of the first steps in taking care of acne. If there are any special sensitivities to various substances, these should be brought under control.

X-ray does not seem to be a permanent method of treatment in those under 18 years of age. For those between 18 and 25, however, the X-ray seems to be the method of choice.

A BOOK A DAY

Explores a World Beneath the Earth.

If H. G. Wells would stop worrying about the future of mankind and go back to the days when he used to turn his fertile imagination loose and tell it to go places, he might write a book like "Land Under England," by Joseph O'Neill.

Here is a novel in the old-time Wellsian manner, written so expertly and so sensibly that Wells himself might be proud of it.

It tells about an Englishman who gets to poking about in the ruins of an ancient Roman wall, far in the north of England, and stumbles onto—or rather into—an entrance to a weird and shivery subterranean world, which he promptly explores at great risk to his neck.

He travels for many miles, far underground, through creepy jungles of phosphorescent fungus trees inhabited by giant toads and enormous, ferocious spiders, and at last reaches a great subterranean sea, on whose lightless shores live descendants of the ancient Romans.

These people have evolved a civilization as grotesque as the land they inhabit. The whole populace is under a life-long hypnotic spell, imposed by the ruling clique. The processes of thought-reading and projecting men-

YOUR CHILDREN

By Olive Roberts Barton

Appetite Is Just Habit

What would you think of a fish and banana boiled dinner? Natives of the tropics consider it the drier cri of delicacy. They call the large, vegetable variety of banana "pantain," but I still won't have mine with fish, thank you.

All of which establishes the point that taste is habit. When tomatoes, or "love-apples," were first discovered to be useful food, nobody would touch them. A lady may as well have served fried green catfish to her guests, or ragout of an eel, because palates turned against this strange, spiky tang of the new gustable.

Cod Liver Oil Problem
A young mother said to me recently: "I dread starting the baby's cod-liver oil in the fall. She never did like it and now that I've stopped for the summer it's going to be a battle next month to get it inside her."

"How do you give it?"
"I used to put it in her bottle or mix it with her cereal. She would take it that way. When I gave it to her on a spoon she fought so and then spit it right out. Finally I got her accustomed to it the other way and she'd eat up everything. But now it's all to do over."

Then I suggested that she start right now to put one drop a day in the baby's food, or one drop in each bottle. And when the sun loses its potency and the dark, dull days of fall descend, she can increase the drops until baby is getting full quota. After a while she can be given the dose in full, twice a day—because her sense of taste will be re-adjusted.

Avoid Monotonous Diets
It is the same with all children. A monotonous diet is the worst thing in the world for any one because it sets prejudice against foods to come. A child of two has quite a variety of food, yet there are certain vegetables and fruits denied him that he may have a year or two later.

There is no harm in approaching the time in much the same way as the training to cod-liver oil. A tiny sample now and then to set the habit of taste to come a very good "yesame." Judgment must be used, of course, because the rich foods, sauces, pastries and rich gravies of the adult table must be avoided.

"I've seen much worse and I've seen much better," he told her. "You can't tell a thing until you get into the projection room."

"I don't have to be there, do I?"
Drann laughed. "No... I'll have a look first—and if there's a possibility, then I'll bring in Boleson and the rest." He stared at her with his wide, myopic eyes. "Come in my office and you can take off that make-up."

Behind the screen in Drann's office, Jo was startled when she looked into the mirror over the blue wash basin and glimpsed her face in make-up. It seemed silly, exaggerated, almost clownish, but she supposed the lights and the cameras took care of that. In a moment or two she emerged from the corner, and Drann turned from his littered desk.

"You'll hear from me soon," he arose and walked toward her. He was smiling, but it was hardly, Jo thought, a friendly smile. "I'm terribly anxious you should succeed. You see, you are the type I admire most and I should like to give it to the screen."

Jo answered his smile, recalling an evening in the dining room at Great Lake Inn. "You seem to admire a great many types," she laughed. "I remember you mentioned that I'm like Miss Davis, your favorite type."

His eyebrows raised. "Davis? Oh, yes—yes, the chunky little girl who was so afraid of me. Well, that was the truth. I detest women who are skinny. Certainly you aren't skinny, Miss Drann."

"I hope not, Mr. Drann. I detest even the word itself!" Under Drann's odd gaze Jo was uncomfortable.

He seemed about to walk along with her, and then, with a hurried glance at his strap-watch, he rushed on along the cement walk.

WHEN Jo reached the little stucco bungalow she found her landlady seated on the porch steps, sunning herself. As Jo approached, the woman rose and stood stolidly as though she were guarding the doorway.

"I want to talk to you about the rent, Miss Drann. What you paid me ran out two days ago. I don't mind waiting if you have prospects—but I notice you've been fooling around with the movie crowd. I guess you figure on getting into pictures."

"Why—why, I took a screen test," Jo admitted under the withering gaze.
The woman nodded. "I've seen you young girls do that before."

Texan Killed in Prescott Accident

C. F. Echols, of Eagle, Dead, and Brother Hurt on No. 67

PRESCOTT, Ark.—Clyde F. Echols of Eagle, Texas, was killed and his brother, R. B. Echols, of Dallas, Texas, was seriously injured in an automobile accident nine miles northeast of here late Tuesday.

The accident occurred when the car in which they were riding left the highway near a bridge and crashed into a creek bank. The car was badly damaged. The two men were brought to the Cora Donnell hospital here.

Medical examination showed that the elder brother died apparently from a broken neck and the younger brother was injured. The body of Clyde Echols was taken to the Cora Donnell hospital suffering from a fractured arm, cuts and bruises and possible internal injuries as well as from shock.

Clyde Echols is survived by his wife and one son, C. F., Jr., of Eagle, Texas; two cousins, Judge George W. Johnson and George McCoppin, of Texarkana; and other relatives. His father was formerly pastor of the Baptist church at New Boston.

R. B. Echols is said to have been operating an automobile at the time of the accident and lost control of the machine as it neared the bridge.

let them share the work of the imaginary wire. If you do this correctly, your neck will straighten out and the little lump will disappear.

Afterward, sit in a straight chair and do this exercise, especially originated by a posture authority to cure bad carriage above the shoulders, get rid of a lump on the back of the neck and prevent a double chin:

First, completely relax the neck, letting your head drop forward as far as possible. Then slowly push your chin out in front until each muscle in your neck feels stretched. Now—still slowly—keeping the chin at exactly the same level, pull the chin back to normal position. Again imagine that your head is being lifted from behind the ears. Repeat the exercise several times a day, remembering always that the more slowly you do it, the more benefit you will derive.

REGIN HERE TODAY
JO DARREN breaks her engagement to BETTIE PAUL, college athlete star, because he objects to her making a job as hostess at Great Lake Inn, fashionable summer resort owned by wealthy BOULEVARD MARSH.

Prompted by his mother, Mariah asks Jo to leave Great Lake. She decides to go to Hollywood to look for a job and Fragonet persuades her to go with him.

There Jo begins to doubt Fragonet. She moves from her hotel to a rooming house, begins a fruitless search for work. Lolita Montez sends for Jo and she goes to the actress' home.

Jo sees NILAS DRANN, the director, and he asks her to come to the studio for a screen test. Jo goes.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XXXIX
THE ensuing half hour was the worst Jo Darren had ever experienced in her life, and she felt certain that never again would she go through anything at all comparable. Before her were three pairs of eyes, veiled behind cigar smoke yet boring like gimlets. Before her was the camera with its staring lenses—and the microphone to record even her nervous breathing. Several times Jo felt sure she was going to faint, yet somehow she finished the ordeal. When she and Drann emerged at last into the bright sunlight she was perspiring at every pore and felt so utterly weak that she could hardly stand.

"If-how do you think it went?" she asked Drann.

"I've seen much worse and I've seen much better," he told her. "You can't tell a thing until you get into the projection room."

"I don't have to be there, do I?"
Drann laughed. "No... I'll have a look first—and if there's a possibility, then I'll bring in Boleson and the rest." He stared at her with his wide, myopic eyes. "Come in my office and you can take off that make-up."

Behind the screen in Drann's office, Jo was startled when she looked into the mirror over the blue wash basin and glimpsed her face in make-up. It seemed silly, exaggerated, almost clownish, but she supposed the lights and the cameras took care of that. In a moment or two she emerged from the corner, and Drann turned from his littered desk.

"You'll hear from me soon," he arose and walked toward her. He was smiling, but it was hardly, Jo thought, a friendly smile. "I'm terribly anxious you should succeed. You see, you are the type I admire most and I should like to give it to the screen."

Jo answered his smile, recalling an evening in the dining room at Great Lake Inn. "You seem to admire a great many types," she laughed. "I remember you mentioned that I'm like Miss Davis, your favorite type."

His eyebrows raised. "Davis? Oh, yes—yes, the chunky little girl who was so afraid of me. Well, that was the truth. I detest women who are skinny. Certainly you aren't skinny, Miss Drann."

"I hope not, Mr. Drann. I detest even the word itself!" Under Drann's odd gaze Jo was uncomfortable.

He seemed about to walk along with her, and then, with a hurried glance at his strap-watch, he rushed on along the cement walk.

WHEN Jo reached the little stucco bungalow she found her landlady seated on the porch steps, sunning herself. As Jo approached, the woman rose and stood stolidly as though she were guarding the doorway.

STANDINGS

SOUTHERN ASSOCIATION

Club—	W.	L.	Pct.
Atlanta	74	50	.597
New Orleans	74	52	.587
Nashville	66	57	.537
Memphis	67	60	.528
Chattanooga	61	61	.500
Little Rock	58	65	.472
Birmingham	51	76	.392
Knoxville	47	78	.376

Tuesday's Results
Little Rock 4-9, Knoxville 0-9.
Atlanta 4, Memphis 3.
Birmingham 2, Chattanooga 0.
Nashville-N. Orleans, postponed, rain.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Club—	W.	L.	Pct.
New York	72	41	.637
St. Louis	68	43	.613
Chicago	71	47	.602
Pittsburgh	64	54	.542
Brooklyn	53	60	.469
Philadelphia	50	64	.438
Cincinnati	49	62	.439
Boston	32	82	.281

Tuesday's Results
St. Louis 6, Boston 5.
New York 6, Cincinnati 5.
Pittsburgh 2, Brooklyn 0.
Chicago-Philadelphia, rain.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Club—	W.	L.	Pct.
Detroit	70	41	.631
New York	63	46	.578
Chicago	57	52	.523
Boston	59	54	.522
Cleveland	58	54	.518
Philadelphia	48	59	.449
Washington	47	56	.456
St. Louis	40	70	.364

Tuesday's Results
Chicago 13-11, Philadelphia 4-4.
St. Louis 8-3, Boston 5-7.
New York 6, Boston 5.
Cleveland 4, Washington 2.

head is being lifted from behind the ears. Repeat the exercise several times a day, remembering always that the more slowly you do it, the more benefit you will derive.

REGIN HERE TODAY
JO DARREN breaks her engagement to BETTIE PAUL, college athlete star, because he objects to her making a job as hostess at Great Lake Inn, fashionable summer resort owned by wealthy BOULEVARD MARSH.

Prompted by his mother, Mariah asks Jo to leave Great Lake. She decides to go to Hollywood to look for a job and Fragonet persuades her to go with him.

There Jo begins to doubt Fragonet. She moves from her hotel to a rooming house, begins a fruitless search for work. Lolita Montez sends for Jo and she goes to the actress' home.

Jo sees NILAS DRANN, the director, and he asks her to come to the studio for a screen test. Jo goes.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XXXIX
THE ensuing half hour was the worst Jo Darren had ever experienced in her life, and she felt certain that never again would she go through anything at all comparable. Before her were three pairs of eyes, veiled behind cigar smoke yet boring like gimlets. Before her was the camera with its staring lenses—and the microphone to record even her nervous breathing. Several times Jo felt sure she was going to faint, yet somehow she finished the ordeal. When she and Drann emerged at last into the bright sunlight she was perspiring at every pore and felt so utterly weak that she could hardly stand.

"If-how do you think it went?" she asked Drann.

"I've seen much worse and I've seen much better," he told her. "You can't tell a thing until you get into the projection room."

"I don't have to be there, do I?"
Drann laughed. "No... I'll have a look first—and if there's a possibility, then I'll bring in Boleson and the rest." He stared at her with his wide, myopic eyes. "Come in my office and you can take off that make-up."

Behind the screen in Drann's office, Jo was startled when she looked into the mirror over the blue wash basin and glimpsed her face in make-up. It seemed silly, exaggerated, almost clownish, but she supposed the lights and the cameras took care of that. In a moment or two she emerged from the corner, and Drann turned from his littered desk.

"You'll hear from me soon," he arose and walked toward her. He was smiling, but it was hardly, Jo thought, a friendly smile. "I'm terribly anxious you should succeed. You see, you are the type I admire most and I should like to give it to the screen."

Jo answered his smile, recalling an evening in the dining room at Great Lake Inn. "You seem to admire a great many types," she laughed. "I remember you mentioned that I'm like Miss Davis, your favorite type."

His eyebrows raised. "Davis? Oh, yes—yes, the chunky little girl who was so afraid of me. Well, that was the truth. I detest women who are skinny. Certainly you aren't skinny, Miss Drann."

"I hope not, Mr. Drann. I detest even the word itself!" Under Drann's odd gaze Jo was uncomfortable.

He seemed about to walk along with her, and then, with a hurried glance at his strap-watch, he rushed on along the cement walk.

WHEN Jo reached the little stucco bungalow she found her landlady seated on the porch steps, sunning herself. As Jo approached, the woman rose and stood stolidly as though she were guarding the doorway.

"I want to talk to you about the rent, Miss Drann. What you paid me ran out two days ago. I don't mind waiting if you have prospects—but I notice you've been fooling around with the movie crowd. I guess you figure on getting into pictures."

Hitch-Hiker Thug Is Given 15 Years

Bitter Toward Society, Says He Would Shoot Truckman Again

LITTLE ROCK—A young transient, turned criminal pleaded guilty Tuesday at Sheridan, Grant county, to the shooting of two Pine Bluff men during an attempted holdup August 13, and was sentenced to 15 years imprisonment.

James Everett Wilson, 20, was not repentant as he pleaded guilty to shoot Harold Davis and David Schlessberg after they had given him and his family a ride in a truck from Texarkana.

He was bitter toward society for denying him the chance to support his 15-year-old wife and infant son, and defiantly told a reporter that he "would do it again under the same circumstances."

"I never had a chance," he said. "If your wife was just out of the hospital after having a baby and you could not do anything better for her or the baby either, you'd do the same thing, I did."

Wilson's girl-wife, who is in City hospital with her baby receiving treatment for injuries inflicted in an automobile accident following the shooting, wept when she learned her husband had been taken to Grant county without being allowed to see her.

"Jimmy's not bad," she sobbed. "He just hadn't had a chance. I've seen him walk the floor nights so worried about not having work and me about to have the baby."

Off in All Directions
They tell about a very ordinary sort of fellow who got suddenly rich by striking oil, and who got awfully swell-headed and bigoted about himself, always trying to impress those with whom he came in contact with his great importance.

One day he rushed into the railroad station, laid a 20-dollar bill down on the ticket-seller's window, and said: "Gimme a ticket."

"Where to?" asked the agent.
"Anywhere," he doesn't make any difference," said the newly rich guy. "I got business all over."

I'd feel much safer about my rent if you were just looking for an ordinary job."

Flushing, Jo opened her purse. "I can give you half a week's rent now. If I give you any more I won't have enough to—"

"Half a week's rent is better than none," remarked her landlady philosophically. "And you take my advice and don't monkey too long with picture outfits. Only a few make good—and honest work is the lot of the rest of us."

Jo nodded, handing her the money. "I agree with you absolutely. But I thought I'd take this one chance."

One chance it was, Jo told herself when she was in the privacy of her room. Suppose it didn't work out?

She faced the half-formed thought that had crept into her mind—should she wire Douglas Marsh? He had said she could depend on him, that she was to appeal to him if ever she needed help. He would give it, too, she knew; he would give it willingly and anxiously, and with no strings attached. But behind him Jo saw Babs Montgomery, and her hot pride rebelled.

HER thoughts were interrupted by her landlady's voice calling her to the telephone. It was Lolita Montez, profusely apologetic for not having been in touch with Jo the day before.

"I had a perfectly hectic day at the studio," the actress explained. "And besides, I had decided it would be better if you could get something outside the lot. I've a friend who owns a sandwich shop on Hollywood boulevard. Would you draw the line at that?"

"Why, no," Jo told her, puzzled. "But I thought you sent Drann to see me."

"I'd as soon let loose the elephants at you. Where'd you get that idea?"

"He—he was here yesterday evening, and he gave me a screen test this morning," Jo explained.

Lolita swore neatly and clearly into Jo's ear. "I'll pray you're rotten, Jo. I swear I will."

"I think I'll be that without your prayers," Jo laughed. "But I can't understand why Drann would intimate you'd mentioned me when I asked him if you had."

"There're a lot of things you don't understand yet about Drann. Take my advice, Jo, and see this friend of mine in the sandwich shop even if your screen test is good." Lolita paused a moment, then went on: "And before you have anything more to do with Drann will you let me see just how much the rest of the Atlas executives know about the test?"

"You mean he might be just—" "I wouldn't want to say that," the actress interrupted. "But I do know Drann's a nut and you have to watch out in Hollywood. Just sit tight and I'll see you tomorrow."

"But, Miss Montez—"

Dicator Attempt in Ecuador Fails

President's Effort to Destroy Congress Is Blocked by Army

GUAYAQUIL, Ecuador.—(AP)—The military commanders of Guayaquil and Quito, the capital, announced Tuesday night that President Velasco Ibarra had been arrested after an attempt to proclaim a dictatorship.

The announcement said Ibarra was placed in the jail of the Guayaquil military regiment with his three aides-de-camp. Congressional dignitaries who had been imprisoned in Panapico have been liberated, it was reported.

First dispatches from Quito, arrived here after a day of interrupted communication service, confirmed fears of a political upheaval. They said Col. Nicanor Solis, inspector-general of the army, had assumed command of the city because Ibarra had "signed an unconstitutional decree."

Reports said Ibarra's movement for a dictatorship was supported at first by Quito police but failed to gain army favor. Tuesday night it was reported the police had asked army authorities to aid and uphold the constitutional order.

Will Rogers

(Continued from page one)

for any town that would mark its name on building roofs visible from planes. The response showed him under, but no body knows how many lives may have been saved by this personal campaign of town identification.

It was on a flight from Mexico City to Los Angeles in 1927 that he met Col. Lindbergh, whom he came to admire above all men, and to whom fell the melancholy duty of making arrangements for the return of his friend's body from Alaska.

Never in Bad Mischance Before
Will never had a serious accident.

School Special
Realistic new methods, Fredericks, Eugene, Tulip Oil, Miracle and other oil waves. The best for less—$1.25 and up.

Lewis Beauty Salon
Experience Counts

CITY FIANACE COMPANY
Personal Loans
Cars Refinanced
Confidential Dealings
Over Jucks' News Stand Ph. 71

FRESH ROASTED COFFEE
2 Pounds ..... 25c
8 Pounds ..... $1.00
W. P. SINGLETON

WASH SUITS
PROPERLY LAUNDERED
50c
NELSON-HUCKINS

DUAL SERVICE
at 3rd and L. & A. Tracks
Under New Management
Unique Sandwich Shop
TOM JACK
Barbecued Sandwiches
Coldest & Freshest Beer in Town

Mobile Service Station
Complete Lubrication
Tire and Battery Service
FREE RED HORSE
for your car. Just ask for one. No obligation.

Society

Mrs. Sid Henry Telephone 321

No loveliness is ever lost.
No dream is ever dreamed in vain;
Whatever comes of grief or pain,
However life's long trails are crossed
The ancient oaks return,
The old winds walk again,
The old stars burn.
The rainbow lifts an endless arc,
One summer blossom shakes its gold
Down many an autumn hour's cold;
For fireflies blossom many a dusk;
And when the heart is said and mule,
Still echoes as of old
One robin's flute, . . . Selected.

Miss Mary Louise Keith and Mrs. Carol Norrman of Olathe, Okla., returned from a visit to Ada, Okla., where they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Emerson Jr., and in Ardmore, Okla., where they were the guests of the George Turner family, who were former residents of Hope.

Mrs. W. W. Hughes and son Billy of Hugo, Okla., are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Becker.

Mr. and Mrs. R. T. White have returned from a week end visit with relatives and friends in West Tennessee points.

Mr. and Mrs. P. D. Smith of Dallas, Texas, were the Tuesday night guests of Capt. and Mrs. R. A. Boyett and Mr. and Mrs. Conner Boyett.

Miss Jacklyn Blanchard who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Lewis for the past two months left Wednesday morning for her home in Delight.

Friends and relatives in this city of Mrs. H. H. Smiley of Texarkana, will sympathize with her in the passing of her husband, Dr. H. H. Smiley, who passed on at his home in Tex-arkana Tuesday. Mrs. Smiley was a former Washington girl and she and Dr. Smiley were very prominent in the Washington Homecomings.

Clint McCorkle of the Arkansas Democrat, Little Rock, is spending a few days with his mother, Mrs. Marie McCorkle and other relatives.

Mrs. Arthur Hill left Tuesday for a visit with relatives and friends in Little Rock.

Mr. and Mrs. M. McCorkle and Mrs. Nona Street were Sunday visitors in Nashville with friends and relatives.

Harper Black, who has been the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Terry Corneal, left Wednesday for his home in Shreveport.

Mr. and Mrs. John P. Cox have returned from a three day visit in Little Rock.

The recently organized Community Chorus, seems to be growing by leaps and bounds. On Monday evening at the regular practice at the City Hall 32 singers and eight visitors took part in the practice, and on Tuesday evening on the lawn of the City Hall the chorus will present a joint program with Crumpler's band, to which the public is cordially invited.

Mrs. John P. Cox and Mrs. George Ware were Wednesday visitors in Texarkana.

Storks Lose 8-7 to State Champs

Southern Kraftsmen, Camden, Win in 9th Inning Rally

The Hope Storks lost an 8-to-7 decision to the state champion Southern Kraftsmen of Camden Tuesday afternoon at Fair Park in one of the best played games here this season.

Camden obtained 12 hits to 11 for the Storks. Jimmy Cook with three hits out of four trips to the plate, led the Hope attack.

The Storks took a one-run lead in the opening inning, but soon relinquished it when Camden tallied in the second, third and fourth innings to forge ahead 6 to 1.

The Storks scored one in the sixth and then staged a rally in the seventh that produced five more runs to go into the lead again by a one-run margin, 1 to 6.

Camden came back in the ninth inning scoring two runs to win the ball game.

McDowell relieved C. Schooley in the box in the fourth inning after Camden had scored three runs on five hits. McDowell halted the rally and allowed only four hits the remaining 5 and 1-3 innings.

A bad decision on Jimmy Cook at second base in the sixth inning, was partly responsible for Hope's loss, Senekekeeper Tom Kinser said.

The box score:
Hope AB R II
Cook, cf 4 2 3
D. Wells, ss 4 2 1
Coop, 3b 5 1 2
C. Schooley, p-rf 4 0 2
Russell, c 4 0 1
D. Wells, 2b 4 0 0
Messer, lf 4 1 1
B. Schooley, rf 1 0 0
Robins, lb 3 0 0
McDowell, p 2 1 1

Camden AB R H
Creed, 2b 5 1 1
Nalis, ss 5 2 2
Harrison, cf 5 0 2
Downs, lf 4 0 1
Lampkin, rf 5 2 2
McDonald, 3b 4 0 1
Collins, lb 4 0 1
Robertson, c 5 1 1
Barnet, p 4 1 1

Score by Innings:
Camden 0 1 2 3 0 0 0 2 8
Hope 1 0 0 0 0 1 5 0 7

Scotland was founded as a kingdom in the early years of the eleventh century by an amalgamation of four tribal kingdoms—Scots, Picts, British and Angles.

Pepper is the chief product of Satun, a small Siamese state in the Malay peninsula.

Edmund Lowe in New Saenger Film

Final Showing Wednesday of Fanny Hurst's "Imitation of Life"

Edmund Lowe is off to a new peak of popularity as the result of his personal performance in "Black Sheep" which comes Thursday to the Saenger Theater. He portrays a new character—far removed from any type he has yet done.

"Black Sheep" which has received great ovations wherever it has played, Edmund Lowe plays the part of a professional shifty gambler who is returning to New York on the second class deck because the cards and the horses wouldn't behave abroad.

Claire Trevor, as an actress who is "walking home" from her first trip to the continent, joins forces with Edmund Lowe to back a romance and keep a captivating adventuress, Adrienne Ames, from a desperate move involving the life of a young playboy, Tom Brown, who wouldn't play her game.

The story zips merrily along in the fast comedy vein with the underlying drama coming more and more frequently to the surface.

The romance between Edmund Lowe and Claire Trevor is one of the most refreshing ever seen on the screen and has been well received everywhere.

At 8 o'clock Wednesday night, the last showing of Fanny Hurst's marvelous story "Imitation of Life" with Claudette Colbert and Warren William, will be held. It is a great program that is completed with a new two reel Laurel and Hardy comedy: "Fixer Uppers" and a Cab Calloway band act, "The Jittersburg Party." Two and a half hours, a rare entertainment, await at the Saenger.

U. S. Votes

(Continued from page one)

Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer and Stanley M. Bruce, high commissioner for Australia.

The British government is making a strong bid for American moral support and it is keeping in touch with the United States embassy.

Hoare and Eden gave Chamberlain a summary of the Paris negotiations and obtained his observations on some of their recommendations.

The Foreign Office is keeping the dominions fully advised on steps to be taken and Bruce's conference was the first of a series with dominion representatives.

Premier Stanley Baldwin is en route home from a vacation in France to take command of the situation. Ramsay MacDonald and other ministers likewise are speeding to London for the meeting.

Pepper is the chief product of Satun, a small Siamese state in the Malay peninsula.

Congress Moves

(Continued from page one)

a "legislative absurdity" and insisting that instead of levying new taxes to raise $250,000,000 the administration should stop "unnecessary, wasteful and extravagant expenditures."

The statement was signed by Senator Metcalf, Republican, Rhode Island, and Representatives Treadway, Republican, Massachusetts, and Bachrach, Republican, New Jersey.

Walsh Bill Killed

WASHINGTON —(P)—The House Judiciary Committee decided Tuesday night to shelve the senate-approved Walsh bill to impose NRA standards on government contractors.

Although the measure was on the program reported approved at a White House conference of congressional leaders with President Roosevelt on Sunday night, the committee voted 13 to 7 against reporting it to the house.

"It is too important a bill to be pushed through at so late a date," said Chairman Summers, Democrat, Texas, after a two-hour executive session.

Business representatives opposed the measure, calling "tyrannical." Some witnesses said it would be harder to enforce than the NRA codes outlawed by the Supreme court.

The committee concluded its hearings this afternoon after Senator Walsh, Democrat, Massachusetts, the bill's author, made his final plea that the government write "the human quality" into its contracts.

Labeling the legislation as "administration bill" which had been handed to him personally by the president, Walsh said:

"If Henry Ford tomorrow announced that in all future time he would require all who dealt with him to live up to certain regulations as to the hours and wages, he would be hailed as the greatest labor leader in the world. All this bill would do would be to substitute the United States government for Mr. Ford."

The bill would require all who bid for government contracts to abide by

Hinton

Mrs. Teddy Camp was on the sick list last week.

There is going to be a party and ice cream supper at Mrs. W. E. Simmons' Friday night, August 23. Everybody is invited. The proceeds will go to the Baptist church at Patmos.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Elledge called on Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Smith Sunday and Mr. and Mrs. Tommie Gibson called in the afternoon.

Mr. J. C. Gibson called on Miss Bessie Nichols of near Shilo Sunday afternoon.

Miss Dorothy Cassidy visited Miss Glynn Black last week.

George Camp called on Miss Vala Dean Standley Sunday afternoon.

Singing every Sunday night, everybody come and bring some one with you.

Last Landing For

(Continued from page one)

runway of the field and rolled slowly with a police escort, into a hangar, emptied to insure privacy. The doors swung shut and the broken body of the old NRA wage and hour provisions. Officials of the American Federation of Labor urged passage of the bill.

BILIOUSNESS
Calotabs
CONSTIPATION

SPECIAL in Everyday Needs
AUTO SEAT COVERS Long Wearing Set—89c
FANS Noiseless, Smooth Running Only—$1.59
HAIR BRUSH Pullman Style All Bristle—50c
Others Up to $1.59
HARD RUBBER COMBS 25c Value—15c
New Shipment of Genuine All-Leather Zipper Bill Folds priced from $2.75 to 49c
John P. Cox Drug Co.
PHONE 84 WE GIVE EAGLE STAMPS

the only man to make a solo flight around the world was transferred to a hearse.

There was no demonstration—only silence, like that of an empty church—yet more impressive than the roaring tributes that lifted on the days when their hero swept in from the skies after one of the aerial exploits that made him famous.

The hearse bore the body to a funeral home. There it will rest until 11 a. m. Wednesday, when a cortege will move out of Oklahoma City to Maysville, the Garvin county town that Post called home.

1c SALE
WASH FROCKS
THE GIFT SHOP
(Mrs. C. P. Holland)

Suede with Patent Trim
Sabardine and Patent
Beautiful Brownbills for fall
Just three of a marvelous group of new fall styles featured at this inviting price! Choose from fabrics, suedes, printed leathers, and smooth kid and calf... in a variety of smart types for every occasion!
BLACK • BROWN • BLUE • GREEN
HITT'S BROWNbilt SHOE STORE

SALE
All Summer Silk DRESSES
Choice 1/2 Price
Ladies Specialty Shop
"Exclusive But Not Expensive"

Did You Know We Gave This Extra Service?
FALL CLOTHES
Cleaned-Pressed
THE ODORESS WAY
and
MINOR REPAIRS
Made at No Extra Charge
Hall Brothers
Hope's Super CLEANERS
PHONE 335

"The Farmer Takes a Wife" and its Janet Gaynor at her best, starting Sunday at the col—
SAENGER
Last Show
TONITE 8 P. M.
Claudette Colbert
FANNY HURST'S
IMITATION OF LIFE

—Plus—
Laurel-Hardy in "Fixer Uppers"
Cab Calloway "Jitterburg Party"

THUR. & FRI.
Matinee 2:30 Thursday 15c

Black Sheep
A Fanny Hurst Production
EDMUND LOWE
CLAIRE TREVOR
TOM BROWN
EUGENE PALLETTE

Our Druggist Says...
"A prescription filled at WARD'S always lives up to expectations—always accomplishes the exact results that your doctor intended it to. That's because our registered prescriptions know the meaning of ACCURACY... and they practice it faithfully in all the work they do for you."
Ward & Son
The Leading Druggists Phone 62 "We've Got It" Delivery
Speciaty PRESCRIPTIONS and be SURE

Stepping along

"Chesterfield Cigarettes," a good customer wrote us recently, "are going ahead by leaps and bounds."

When things start out being good... and keep on being good... folks find out about it.

Just about every place you go the store-keepers will tell you that Chesterfields are going ahead.

It seems to prove one thing... more and more smokers every day... men and women both... are finding out about

Chesterfield... the cigarette that's Milder
Chesterfield... the cigarette that TASTES BETTER

Tennis Player

HORIZONTAL:

1 Doubles tennis champion.

10 To contend.

11 Snaky fish.

12 Stunned.

13 Father.

14 To require.

15 Loom bar.

17 Velvets.

19 Lay.

23 To run off rails.

28 Pertaining to the Incas.

29 Fowl.

31 Ingenious.

32 Pace.

33 Boxes.

35 Austrian nobility.

36 To cut grass.

37 Hair cut.

39 Lost color.

42 Pertaining to a tela.

47 Small.

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE:

LEONARDO DAVINCI
ADROPER COO
PROVE NEW ROUGE
A REPS N E O I N
IT LIAR ALPS OG
MOB CLARIFY EPI
TRAP TIE RAN
EASES LA LEONARDO
R SNAG P DA SE
SW SLAP VINCI OR
AA ALAS EN
MINERAL IMPALES
ITALY MONA LISA

VERTICAL:

48 Policeman.

50 Erases.

52 Smell.

53 Wing.

54 To inlay.

55 Where championship tennis games are played.

56 She once defeated champion Helen.

18 Carmine.

19 Mover's truck.

20 Insect.

21 Frozen water.

22 Beret.

24 Tatter.

25 Ozone.

26 Bugle plant.

27 She is a handed player.

29 Sloe.

30 Tip.

33 New England fish.

34 Drunkard.

36 Iron.

38 To becloud.

39 Fairy.

40 Tiny particle.

41 Log.

42 Game played on horseback.

44 Fabric.

45 Too.

46 Long grass.

47 Cat's foot.

48 Vulgar fellow.

49 Skillet.

51 Eye tumor.

THE NEW DEAL

(Continued from page one)

connected with the biggest bankers, have lobbied for Big Navy bills, represents the Todd Shipbuilding Co., and others on occasions. Jim has a flashing and hunting camp at which to entertain, and sometimes a yacht. He was a close friend of the late Chairman Will Wood of the House appropriation committee and is now intimate with White House Secretary McIntyre as well as scores of other government officials. He has led the lobbying against such "nonsense" as amendments requiring construction of every other naval vessel in navy yards.

It's Profitable.

Ira Campbell, general counsel for the American Steamship Owners' Association, heads up the ship operators' lobby, aided by such Washington counsel as Edwin H. Duff and Ira Ewers. Campbell is said to have received $100,000 for representing the Lykes Brothers interests down here for 22 days, and leads the battle for subsidy legislation.

Ship lobbyists try hard to see that their friends are appointed to the naval affairs and merchant marine committees of Congress. Usually they succeed.

In file of the Bath Iron Works (shipyard) was found a curious letter signed with the name of Congressman G. W. Edwards, member of the house merchant marine committee, which said:

"As you doubtless know, a congressman must derive some of his income from other sources than being a member of the House, and in this connection I would like to bring to your attention the fact that my secretary and myself have a company in Philadelphia. Please put us on your inquiry list for materials in connection with the ships. We have performed work for New York Ship and Newport News."

President Powell of United Drydock had a shipyard in the district of Congressman Anning S. Frail, now member of the Federal Communications Commission, and found him "extremely co-operative" in getting a destroyer contract. He shared Prall's hotel Shoreham apartment here when in town. And once he told his agent, lobbyist Prall's son who was in the insurance business, adding, "You will have to help him with a slice of our business some way or other."

Navy "High-Pressure"

Business pressures on the navy in connection with its specifications for the many things it buys are constant, which means a constant warfare between lobbyists here. F. Russell Bichowsky, former navy scientist, writes in "Is the Navy Ready?" that the navy is sold its material by "high-pressure" salesmanship.

Absolving officers from taking bribes, he suggests that "a good party" will attain the same end, plus realization that young naval officers may be able to make valuable contacts with large manufacturing concerns which they can use after leaving the service. Bichowsky says this results in too many "gadgets" for ships, inferior quality for naval materials, and rapidly increasing ship costs.

"Bass Drum" Shearer, sometimes credited with breaking up the Geneva naval conference while working for shipbuilders, and who takes credit for a $740,000,000 naval program, still gets along well with the admirals and says they once, at any rate, used him for propaganda campaigns.

Joe Feathers Nest

The army also buys a lot of stuff. It was the field of Joe Silverman, who says he spent most of $500,000 on "liquor, flowers, and gambling with army officers." Joe's game was buying up surplus war supplies cheap and he made millions at it.

But lately he has been investigated in connection with a deal for $10,000,000 worth of trucks. Joe is charged with having offered to get half the contract for General Motors, for a 7½ per cent commission.

"I know Joe—you'd better put him on your payroll. He can be of aid to you," said former Assistant Secretary of War Fred Payne, according to Frank Shearer, who was trying to sell the army a puncture-proof tire and who made the $4500 loan to Col. Alexander Williams, which caused the colonel's dismissal from the service.

Speicher also says:

"Silverman declared he had the office of assistant secretary of war in his pocket."

Silverman placed on his payroll Alphonse O'Neal, former national commander of the American Legion, because "he is the closest man to Assistant Secretary Harry Woodring in the United States."

Silverman claimed he had had a clause inserted in arm truck bid specifications which barred Chevrolet from bidding, but could get the specifications changed again.

Joe Silverman was always a chummy, ingratiating business man who had a monopoly on surplus supplies and more friends in the War Department than anyone else outside. He called generals and officials by their first name. He also has pull on Capitol Hill. Senators Copeland, Barbour and Reynolds once wrote the War Department on his behalf.

The New Deal

(Continued from page one)

connected with the biggest bankers, have lobbied for Big Navy bills, represents the Todd Shipbuilding Co., and others on occasions. Jim has a flashing and hunting camp at which to entertain, and sometimes a yacht. He was a close friend of the late Chairman Will Wood of the House appropriation committee and is now intimate with White House Secretary McIntyre as well as scores of other government officials. He has led the lobbying against such "nonsense" as amendments requiring construction of every other naval vessel in navy yards.

It's Profitable.

Ira Campbell, general counsel for the American Steamship Owners' Association, heads up the ship operators' lobby, aided by such Washington counsel as Edwin H. Duff and Ira Ewers. Campbell is said to have received $100,000 for representing the Lykes Brothers interests down here for 22 days, and leads the battle for subsidy legislation.

Ship lobbyists try hard to see that their friends are appointed to the naval affairs and merchant marine committees of Congress. Usually they succeed.

In file of the Bath Iron Works (shipyard) was found a curious letter signed with the name of Congressman G. W. Edwards, member of the house merchant marine committee, which said:

"As you doubtless know, a congressman must derive some of his income from other sources than being a member of the House, and in this connection I would like to bring to your attention the fact that my secretary and myself have a company in Philadelphia. Please put us on your inquiry list for materials in connection with the ships. We have performed work for New York Ship and Newport News."

President Powell of United Drydock had a shipyard in the district of Congressman Anning S. Frail, now member of the Federal Communications Commission, and found him "extremely co-operative" in getting a destroyer contract. He shared Prall's hotel Shoreham apartment here when in town. And once he told his agent, lobbyist Prall's son who was in the insurance business, adding, "You will have to help him with a slice of our business some way or other."

Navy "High-Pressure"

Business pressures on the navy in connection with its specifications for the many things it buys are constant, which means a constant warfare between lobbyists here. F. Russell Bichowsky, former navy scientist, writes in "Is the Navy Ready?" that the navy is sold its material by "high-pressure" salesmanship.

Absolving officers from taking bribes, he suggests that "a good party" will attain the same end, plus realization that young naval officers may be able to make valuable contacts with large manufacturing concerns which they can use after leaving the service. Bichowsky says this results in too many "gadgets" for ships, inferior quality for naval materials, and rapidly increasing ship costs.

"Bass Drum" Shearer, sometimes credited with breaking up the Geneva naval conference while working for shipbuilders, and who takes credit for a $740,000,000 naval program, still gets along well with the admirals and says they once, at any rate, used him for propaganda campaigns.

Joe Feathers Nest

The army also buys a lot of stuff. It was the field of Joe Silverman, who says he spent most of $500,000 on "liquor, flowers, and gambling with army officers." Joe's game was buying up surplus war supplies cheap and he made millions at it.

But lately he has been investigated in connection with a deal for $10,000,000 worth of trucks. Joe is charged with having offered to get half the contract for General Motors, for a 7½ per cent commission.

"I know Joe—you'd better put him on your payroll. He can be of aid to you," said former Assistant Secretary of War Fred Payne, according to Frank Shearer, who was trying to sell the army a puncture-proof tire and who made the $4500 loan to Col. Alexander Williams, which caused the colonel's dismissal from the service.

Speicher also says:

"Silverman declared he had the office of assistant secretary of war in his pocket."

Silverman placed on his payroll Alphonse O'Neal, former national commander of the American Legion, because "he is the closest man to Assistant Secretary Harry Woodring in the United States."

Silverman claimed he had had a clause inserted in arm truck bid specifications which barred Chevrolet from bidding, but could get the specifications changed again.

Joe Silverman was always a chummy, ingratiating business man who had a monopoly on surplus supplies and more friends in the War Department than anyone else outside. He called generals and officials by their first name. He also has pull on Capitol Hill. Senators Copeland, Barbour and Reynolds once wrote the War Department on his behalf.

MARKET PLACE

Remember, the more you tell, the quicker you sell.

1 time, 10c line, min. 30c

For consecutive insertions, minimum of 3 lines in one ad

3 times, 6c line, min. 50c

6 times, 5c line, min. 90c

25 times, 3½c line, min. $2.75 (Average 5½ words to the line)

NOTE—Want ads will be accepted with the understanding that the bill is payable on presentation of statement, before the first publication.

Phone 768

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—We have in your vicinity two upright studio pianos and one grand piano slightly used, at bargain prices. Will sell for balance due rather than re-ship. Should you desire to see the pianos, advise, and will give location. Write or call Reed Music Company, 719 Main Street, Little Rock, Arkansas. 8-20-35.

FOR SALE—Extra large Keefe Pears. Order now for canning and preserving. Free delivery. Phone 25-166. Vincent Foster. 21-31p

FOR SALE OR TRADE—Six-room house, modern, 6 acres land, mile and half from Hope. Jesse Brown. 15-31c

FOR SALE—Field of 56 acres of hay, $25.00. Inquire at Star office. 31-dh

FOR RENT

FOR RENT—Three room upstairs apartment in home. Private bath and garage. To adults. J. A. Sullivan. 16-61c

FOR RENT to Gentleman, Southeast bedroom with private bath. Phone 115, 522 S. Elm. 15-31c

Watering resorts are called "spas" after the town of Spa in Liege province, Belgium, where mineral springs were discovered in 1326.

The Chinese distilled liquor long before the Christian era, and "arrack" was made in India as early as 800 B.C.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

By AHERN

SAY, THIS IS A SWELL HUNK OF LEISURE, UP HERE! HOW DID YOU HOLD TH' CHISEL TO CUT IN ON THIS?

CUT IN?—UM—I DON'T UNDERSTAND! EGAD, I TOLD YOU THIS IS THE SUMMER LODGE OF MY OLD FRIEND, JOSEPH SEFTON, AND HE HAS TURNED IT OVER TO ME, WHILE HE IS IN HAWAII!

YOU MEAN TH' CARETAKER IS AN OLD PAL OF YOURS?—HE TOLD ME!—IF MR. SEFTON SUDDENLY RETURNS FROM HAWAII, HELL RIDE US LIKE SURF BOARDS, ACROSS THIS LAKE!

MY WORD, YOU TALK AS IF I BROUGHT YOU UP HERE ON A SQUATTERS CLAIM!

SH-H—THE MAJOR GOT IN ON AN INTERMISSION STUB, AS IT WERE =

T. M. REG. U. S. PAT. OFF. © 1935 BY NEA SERVICE, INC. 8-21

OUT OUR WAY

By WILLIAMS

THAT SHOWS HOW MUCH YOU GOT TO LEARN—EXPECTIN' A WORM TO GET CAUGHT ON TH' HOOK, HISSELF! THEY GOT NO BRAINS, SO THEY AIN'T GONNA DO NOTHIN' SILLY! YOU GOT A LITTLE BRAINS, AN' YOU'RE DOIN' SOMETHIN' SILLY! NOW, IF A WORM HAD YOUR BRAINS, HED GIT CAUGHT ON TH' HOOK, BECAUSE HED BE SILLY, YOU SEE?

OH!

THE MYSTERIES OF LIFE.

© 1935 BY NEA SERVICE, INC. T. M. REG. U. S. PAT. OFF. 8-21

BOOTS AND HER BUDDIES

Hattie Hasn't Been Around

By MARTIN

Y'SEEM T'THINK IT'S SO TURBID, TH' WAY I WORK—DONT YOU EVER WORK NONE WHEN YER HOME

WHY—YES, OH SURE, I'VE BEEN AWFULLY BUSY—THAT'S WHY I'M TAKING A VACATION! BUT, I'VE NEVER DONE ANY HARD WORK, LIKE YOU DO

LAN SAKES! WHUT DO Y'DO WITH YER TIME? TELL ME SOME MORE ABOUT THEM DANCES, AN' SECH, Y'GO TO! I'VE ALWAYS WANTED T'SEE ONE OF 'EM

OH!—WE DANCE—AN' SOME TIMES WE GO TO A MOVIE

MOVIE? WHUT'S THET?

WHY, YOU KNOW—A MOVING PICTURE—A TALKIE—A SHOW—AND, OF COURSE, WE PLAY BRIDGE

LONDON BRIDGE? I'VE PLAYED THET

NO NO! WELL—O.K.—GEE, HATTIE, I SUPPOSE TH' THINGS GIRLS BACK HOME DO SEEM VERY SILLY TO YOU—BUT GOSH, I SHOULD THINK EVERY THING WOULD SEEM KINDA SILLY TO YOU, BY NOW

© 1935 BY NEA SERVICE, INC. T. M. REG. U. S. PAT. OFF. 8-21

ALLEY OOP

Dootsy Bobo Is a Super Salesman

By HAMLIN

FAUGH! Y' TALKS AS IF I COULDN'T TAKE MOO ANYTIME, I MADE UP MY MIND T'DO IT! THAT IS, IF SUMPIN' HAPPEN T'THAT BIG DINOSAUR THEY GOT!

Y'ZZIR—THAS WHAT I SAID! I'LL DELIVER MOO INTO YOUR HANDS!

AHH-H! THAS JUST IT! SUMPIN' HAS HAPPENED TO IT—AN' T'GUZ AN' ALLEY OOP—THEY ALL ARE GONE—GONE FOR GOOD!

Y' DONT MEAN T'TELL ME! WELL, SAY—WHAT HAPPENED!

THEY WERE DROWNED IN AN UNDERGROUND RIVER, AN' MOO IS NOW RULED BY A WEAK-KNEED MUG KNOWN AS FOOZY!

WELL, I DO DECLARE! HMM—BUT THEY STILL HAVE A TOUGH ARMY.

THEY DID HAVE—BUT NOW, THAS GONE, TOO! I SAW THEIR ARMY MARCH OVER A CLIFF TO COMPLETE DESTRUCTION!

WOW! WHAT ARE WE WAITIN' ON? LES GO!

© 1935 BY NEA SERVICE, INC. T. M. REG. U. S. PAT. OFF. 8-21

WASH TUBBS

Superiority of the Male?

By CRANE

ATHLETIC INSTRUCTOR TUBBS IS NOT LONG IN LEARNING THAT THE GIRLS OF TWIDDLEDEE CAMP CAN DO MOST EVERYTHING.

THEY SHOW HIM UP AT DIVING, SWIMMING, AND HIKING.

THEY CATCH FAR MORE FISH, AND BIGGER FISH.

THEY KNOCK HIM OUT OF THE BOX, IN BASEBALL, AND RUN HIM RAGGED AT TENNIS. IT'S A GREAT LIFE!

© 1935 BY NEA SERVICE, INC. T. M. REG. U. S. PAT. OFF. 8-21

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS

A Stranger

By BLOSSER

BUT, RUF, DIDN'T YOU ARRANGE FOR A SAFARI TO MEET US AT LOGUBI? IF WE FLY INLAND, WE'LL MISS THEM!!

BUT PENE-TRATING THAT JUNGLE WOULD TAKE US DAYS... AS IT IS, WE'LL FLY OVER IT!

THIS IS A SEAPLANE! WHAT IF WE'RE FORCED DOWN ON LAND?

THAT WHOLE COUNTRY IS SPOTTED WITH SMALL LAKES AND RIVERS! IF WE HAD TO, WE COULD SHOP AROUND AND PICK OUT THE ONE WE WANTED!

TOMORROW MORNING, IF ALL GOES WELL, THIS SHIP WILL BE FLYING OVER AFRICA... YOU BOYS WILL SEE A WORLD THAT'S STRANGER THAN YOU EVER COULD IMAGINE!

THAT PLANE DOWN THERE IS STRANGE ENOUGH TO SUIT ME! WHO DO YOU SUPPOSE IT IS?

© 1935 BY NEA SERVICE, INC. T. M. REG. U. S. PAT. OFF. 8-21

THE NEWFANGLES (Mom'n Pop)

Windy's Had Experience

By COWAN

TEN THOUSAND BUCKS!! IN GOLD!! BUTTERFLY, WE'RE RICH!

WHAT DO YA MEAN, WE'RE RICH?

BUT, DEAR, I FOUND IT! BY RIGHTS, IT'S MINE!!

IT'S MINE!! IF I HADN'T HAD THAT DREAM AND MADE YOU GO DOWN INTO THE WELL, THEY BOX NEVER WOULD'VE CAUGHT ON YER FOOT!

WELL, WE'LL HIRE AN ATTORNEY, AND LET HIM DECIDE WHO OWNS IT!

HIRE A LAWYER!! I KNOW A CHEAPER WAY T' SETTLE THIS!!

IF I COULD JEST FIND SOMEONE T'GET THE MONEY THET'S OWED T' ME, I'D BE FIXED FER LIFE!

HIRE MY WIFE!!

© 1935 BY NEA SERVICE, INC. T. M. REG. U. S. PAT. OFF. 8-21